DISTRICT UPDATES

- We are in the midst of our New Student Orientations on both the Brenham and Bryan campuses. These orientation sessions are going very well, and are providing interested students a convenient opportunity to learn about Blinn College, receiving academic advising and registering for classes.
- The Texas A&M Engineering Academy at Blinn - Brenham has accepted 65 students for the upcoming fall semester. After receiving all the applications from interested students, we identified 117 students who had completed the necessary mathematics courses to qualify for the program. We then sent those students’ applications to Texas A&M, which ultimately selected the 65 participants.
- House Bill 505 has been signed by the Governor. This bill prevents a cap being placed on the number of hours students can enroll while they are high school. We are currently looking at how this will affect us; it could give us the opportunity to offer marketable skills certificates and technical workforce offerings via dual credit.
- Each Saturday this month, the Star of the Republic Museum is hosting hands-on youth learning programs. They have offered children’s courses on knot tying and creating corn husk dolls, and they will offer basket weaving and beating and weaving. These activities are free to the public.

ITEM 5. BRAZOS COUNTY CAMPUSES UPDATE

• This week, I am attending the Transforming Undergraduate Education in Engineering workshop and the American Society for Engineering Education conference in Seattle. We are co-presenting the Texas A&M Engineering Academy at Blinn alongside Texas A&M and demonstrating to other engineering programs from around the nation how a partnership between a major university and a community college can allow students greater access to an engineering education.

On June 15, we cleared the portion of the Administration Building that will be used by the Barnes & Noble Bookstore so Barnes & Noble can begin its construction. We can start seeing work on the outside of the Administration Building, including building a dock on the south side and some island modifications on the north side to make a route for 18-wheelers to access the dock.
• Student Center modifications will continue. We have completed the demolition portion of the project and are in the midst of new construction. The Student Center is still set for completion in August.
• Once the bookstore moves to the Administration Building, we will begin working on the G Building.
• On June 5, our FutureWorks Academy met with a creativity facilitator who walked us through approaching projects from new angles and how to frame our questions differently so we get "outside-the-box" answers.
