Presentations Expectations

In class: Each member must be involved in the presentation in a “meaningful way”. I would strongly suggest powerpoint, and bringing it on a jump drive. 10 minutes is your maximum speaking time. I suggest you practice, because if you go over 10 minutes, you start to lose points. If you do not explain your work well enough for others in the class to follow, you lose points.

Written: Think of this as an extended homework problem. You need to explain the details of what you did, ALL of the details of the hypothesis test(s) that you ran, and all of the conclusions that you draw. Be sure to also mention the major “complicating factors” that someone might bring up in commenting on your project.

Notice there is no minimum page length, or layout requirement. Make it look “nice”.
