COURSE POLICIES:

Class Attendance and Participation

Students at Blinn College are required to attend all their classes promptly and regularly. Each class meeting builds the foundation for subsequent class meetings. Without full participation and regular class attendance, students shall find themselves at a severe disadvantage for achieving success in this class. If a student has one week's worth of absences (or 2 lectures) during the semester, he/she will be sent an e-mail by the College requiring the student to contact the instructor and schedule a conference immediately to discuss his/her attendance issues. The College will administratively withdraw him/her from class if the student accumulates two weeks' worth of absences (or 4 lectures).

Excused Absences

Blinn College recognizes the following forms of excused absences:

- observance of religious holy days. The student should notify his/her instructor(s) no later than the 15th day of the semester concerning the specific date(s) that the student will be absent for any religious holy day(s)
- representing Blinn College District or an independent high school district at an official institutional function
- military service
- discretion of the instructor

Electronic Devices

Students must turn off and place away out of sight all electronic devices including, but not limited to, iPods, laptop computers, and cellular phones during lecture.

Food and Beverages

Absolutely no food and/or drink is allowed in the classroom.

ANGEL

The instructor employs ANGEL extensively for this course. ANGEL contains a digital copy of the course syllabus, Writing Guide, as well as all the PowerPoint lectures, reading guides, and long essay question prompts for the two major and final exams. The student must consult ANGEL frequently. It is the responsibility of the student when missing any lecture(s) to download the missed material(s) before speaking with the instructor.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

Attendance

The instructor measures student attendance for each lecture by passing around a sign-in sheet that the student initials by his/her name. Attendance for each lecture is worth six (6) points. The instructor documents "tardy" any students arriving more than ten (10) minutes late or departing lecture early without consulting the instructor beforehand. Three (3) "tardies" collectively count as one (1) unexcused absence. Students will lose three (3) points from their attendance grade in addition to receiving a documented "tardy" for that lecture.

Participation: Online Reading Guides

The instructor measures student participation throughout the semester using reading guides completed entirely online by the student on ANGEL. The reading guides serve multiple functions to the student:

- aid in the study of the required readings
- generate student responses to any questions posed by the instructor during lecture
- provide study resources for examinations

The student completes a corresponding online reading guide prior to class and for each scheduled lecture throughout the semester. Each reading guide is worth ten (10) points. The student may only submit the online reading guides once for a grade. The format for the online reading guides is entirely fill-in-the-blank, with the questions derived only from assigned readings for that scheduled lecture day. The instructor will not accept any reading guides submitted upon a student's return from an unexcused absence, completed on paper, and/or via email. The student will receive a grade of zero (0) for any reading guide submitted in the above listed manner(s).

Exams

The instructor administers two (2) major exams throughout the semester worth 175 points each, and a final exam at the end of the semester worth 250 points. The two major exams cover units 1 and 2, respectively, while the final exam is comprehensive in scope. All exams for the course contain two elements:

- a long essay based on one of the assigned RUSH readings
- an objective section composed of multiple choice as well as true/false questions, all derived solely from the PowerPoint lectures and readings guides

For the major exams, the instructor first releases the long essay question prompt on ANGEL to the student two (2) calendar days prior to the scheduled exam date (see course calendar below). The student completes the long essay for all the major exams for the course outside of lecture, and submits it to the instructor immediately prior to receiving and taking the objective section on the scheduled exam date. Students must type their long essay responses following all provisions outlined in the Writing Guide available on ANGEL. The instructor will not accept handwritten or emailed long essay responses. Failure to follow the Writing Guide provisions results in loss of points on the long essay. The two major exam long essays are all valued at twenty (25) points, and are added to the student's overall major exam score. The student next completes the objective section of the exam on the scheduled date in lecture using a Scantron form. The objective section for the two major exams consists of 75 multiple choice and true/false questions worth two (2) points each.

For the final exam, the instructor first releases the long essay question prompt on ANGEL immediately following lecture on the last scheduled class day of the semester. The student completes the long essay for the final exam outside of lecture, and submits it to the instructor immediately prior to taking the objective section on the scheduled final exam date (see course calendar below). Students must type their long essay responses following all provisions outlined in the Writing Guide available on ANGEL. The instructor will not accept handwritten or emailed long essay responses. Failure to follow the Writing Guide provisions results in loss of points on the long essay. The final exam long essay is valued at fifty (50) points, and is added to the student's overall final exam score. The student next completes the objective section of the final exam on the scheduled date using a Scantron form. The final exam consists of 100 multiple choice and true/false questions worth two (2) points each.

Students may schedule to make up the two major exams up to five (5) calendar days before or after the scheduled date for excused absences only. The make-up format for the two major exams is a single essay worth 175 points, administered in the Student Learning Center, and requires the student purchase a Bluebook for the exam. A student who fails to complete or make-up any of the two major exams will receive a grade of F for the course.

Grade Enhancement: Think Pieces

Students may submit up to two (2) think pieces no longer than one (1) page in length for five (5) points each for grade enhancement. The instructor derives the think piece questions listed below beforehand specifically from the T&S assigned readings. To receive credit, think pieces response(s) must answer the entire question, use only supporting evidence derived from T&S, and follow the Writing Guide available on ANGEL. The student may only submit think pieces for the questions listed for the corresponding scheduled exam. The instructor will accept think pieces from the student for grade enhancement only on scheduled exam days.
