Access Tegrity on the World Wide Web

Open a browser window and type in http://eclips.blinn.edu The User login box displays. Enter your username and password in the User Login box (the same username and password you use to log in to Blinn Exchange and eCampus).

After login the My Tegrity page lists all of your active and archived courses. Archived courses are courses that you were a member of in previous semesters and they have the word Archive preceding the name of the course. Don’t be concerned about Archived courses displaying. They will be removed from the server at some point. Notice that you can also access the Tegrity Recorder from this page by clicking the Record a Class link. The Tegrity Recorder enables you to record audio, screen content, and/or video content for your class. In student view the Record a Class button displays with just the Word record.

Click the course title that contains the recordings you wish to view. When the list of recordings displays, click on the recording you wish to view. The recording plays in the Tegrity window.
